Watch The Robot

Inspired by tin toys that its creators had played with as children, Mr Roboto comes to mechanical life after nearly two years of tinkering.

With its left eye magnifying the hours and the right a GMT function independently set by the crown, Mr Roboto has a retrograde minute for its mouth.

This ticking robot makes a strong statement on your wrist.

The main challenge was not the look of Mr Roboto but the movement that had to be carefully configured to support the various functions.

This unique creation is 50mm long and 41mm wide with an ETA 2836-2 modified automatic movement set in the low-carbon 316L stainless steel case. It has a robust metal bezel as a dial, and with its rubber strap it is water resistant down to 50 metres, and will not rust — the inlaydium in the steel endows it with excellent corrosion resistant properties.

Manufacturer Azimuth tends to lean towards the avant-garde with its timepieces, and they have every right to be pleased with the fact that they are the first company in the world to make a watch out of a robot...or was that a robot out of a watch?

Mr Roboto is priced at $6,000 and is available at Azimuth Exclusive Boutique, #02-20 Mandarin Gallery, www.azimuthwatch.com

Xmas Cracker

Get your house in order before the visitors get there!

And to help you along, Miele has launched the festive edition S 2120 vacuum cleaner in a lively chili red that will go well with your festive decorations.

Not only does it suck up the dust, courtesy of its 1600 W motor, but its Super Air Clean filter reduces the level of pollutants in the room air. The made in Germany S 2120 vacuum cleaner rests on three fully-rotational castor wheels and has a wide operating radius of nine metres. With the additional brushes thrown in because it's that time of year, you get a versatile, red-hot cracker of a sucker that will clean things up before and after the celebrations!

The festively colourful S 2120 vacuum cleaner in Chili Red retails at a special price of $6308 from now till the end of February 2010. Miele Boutique, #1-01 Wisland House II, T: +65 6738 6286, www.miele.sg
